Sixth Sense

From the Pastor

Resurrection is not our work. Resurrection is something God does. Death is the ultimate wrong that we cannot fix and cannot change. There is no explanation of Easter, except to say that this is what the love of God looks like in the face of death. God refuses to grant death the power to pull us from God. So, wherever pain and evil happen in this world, God is there, pushing back the power of death. In places where blood is spilled and breath is gone, God does what only God can do. The resurrection of Jesus means that death does not win.

But resurrection means more than that. God takes that which we cannot make right, and God redeems. Jesus was love, and the hard thing to face is how offensive we found that love to be. When the world tried to shut him up, tried to push him away, he wouldn't leave us. Jesus comes back.

Easter is the love of God come back to us. Even when we try to push Jesus away, he comes back. It's what love does. But there is more. Resurrection means that the way of Jesus is true. It means that to live like Jesus is to be fully human. It means that sins are forgiven and life is made whole. But if that is true, then there is no doubt that Easter isn't over. It's not complete. The angel says he is not here. "He has gone ahead of you to Galilee." Of course he has! We need to understand this. God's love is set loose in this world. So look for it. The love of God will show up in your life; look for it.

Peace!

Vincent

What We're Reading / Watching / Listening To / Doing

David Bennett: How To Know the Birds by Ted Floyd

Cosy Cornelius-Bates: We just finished The Illuminated Adventures of Flora and Ulysses and are looking forward to eating donuts and watching the movie Friday!

Kate Davoli: Reading about a book a week for missiology class. Just cracked Eat What Is Set Before You – it's the professor's own book. Can't recommend or dissuade until I've read more of it.

Megan Fogt: Kaelan is enjoying reading Pea, Bee, and Jay by Brian "Smitty" Smith. We each read a character of the comic. Lots of fun.

Peter Gilmore: Still slowly reading the Mike Davis book I mentioned the last time. Every week I read a short story by Séamus Ó Grianna, great 20th century writer from Co. Donegal in the northwest of Ireland. As the stories are in Irish, you might say I'm reading the dictionary, too. Started the TV adaptation of Wolf Hall – mostly missed it on Masterpiece Theatre originally.

Lori King: As luck would have it, today is the day that I am finishing the book on King Philip's War – The Name of War – and beginning Dying of Whiteness by Jonathan Metzl.

John McCall: I am well into Obama's A Promised Land. Diane and I really appreciated Ken Burns' latest series Jazz on PBS television.

Susan Rothenberg: Upon the recommendation of a trusted friend, I have been reading Wintering by Katherine May. It has helped me reframe this time of pandemic to see it not only as a time of loss or tragedy, but also as a time of repair and restoration. It is beautifully written and I highly recommend!

Squirrel Hill Clean-Up

Our Sunday school classes have participated in Squirrel Hill Clean-Up day for the last several years. This year, in lieu of a large gathering for their annual Community Clean-up, the Squirrel Hill Urban Coalition's Litter Patrol is inviting families and friends to remove litter from a block of your choosing. Choose a block where you live, a block in your favorite park, the block where you walk your dog, or a block that needs a little care. Participants are asked to decide the day and time during the week of April 18-24, 2021, that is convenient for your schedule.

Sign up at Grand Pandemic Sign Up to avoid duplication of effort and assure social distancing. They are also providing safety vests, bags, and gloves (cotton or Nitrile) if needed.

Welcome, New Members!

On March 24, the Session welcomed Julie Mull, Mike Carey, and Suzanne Carey into membership. Check back in the May issue for an introduction from Mike and Suzanne.

From Julie: I am a Pittsburgh native, who's boomeranged from here to the South, to Philadelphia, and returned with my family, including my husband Evan and children, Sebastian, River, and Robin (and now two cats.) In the same way, I am returning to the Presbyterian faith while having explored Unitarian and Buddhist beliefs. I work at CMU and have an arts background. Our family loves nature and stays involved in BSA scouts as a way to get outdoors. I'm so happy to become an official member of Sixth Church.

Holy Week 2021

Palm Sunday: Join our livestream worship at 11 am with musical videos and a children's video Call to Worship, an invitation to make a contribution to One Great Hour of Sharing, and the message: "Love Endures."

Open Door Meditation: Visit our church website during Holy Week for a meditation on "A Time to Honor Our Grief."

Maundy Thursday Communion Service: Our pre-recorded service will air at 7 pm on Thursday, April 1, with a Zoom agape feast immediately following the conclusion of the YouTube service (Zoom link will be in your weekly email). Assemble your individual plates of hummus, olives, figs, and other goodies and fellowship with us.

Good Friday Noon Service: This year, a pre-recorded service will air at noon on Friday, April 2 on our YouTube channel. Join us for contemplative prayer and singing, and a reflection from Pastor Vincent on the silence of God.

An advocate for better conditions, Kubrin will share stories of people who have been in jail, factual information, poetry, and possible solutions and resources. There will be time for Q & A, and how her presentation relates to the upcoming ballot initiative to ban solitary confinement at the Allegheny County Jail.

April 25, "Perigree": Diane Kerr's new book of poems Perigree won the 2020 Brittingham Prize from the University of Wisconsin Press. The book deals with the childhood trauma of sexual abuse. Diane will read excerpts from the book, followed by a time for discussion.

Greetings from Your Stewardship Committee Chair

You will soon be receiving your 2021 First Quarter donation statement. Please review it carefully to make sure that all donations have been assigned to the correct account, and that no donations are missing.

If your statement and the various accounts do not look correct, please reach out to either Amy Whipple (office@sixthchurch.org) or me (efhazlett@icloud.com).

In gratitude,

Beth Hazlett, Stewardship Committee Chair

Thank you!

A big "thank you" for all the donations of food and cash/gift cards to Wilkesburg Community Ministry which were delivered on Wednesday, March 25. Most of us are familiar with the food collections at Thanksgiving and Christmas. Helping families at Easter with their main meal has only been happening for five years. Thank you again for your efforts and for sharing.

Food for Thought...

“So here’s a blessing for all of you who find yourself living in the gray. Blessed are you who live here, this space between simple categories and easy answers... Blessed are you who build a home on uneasy ground, who, despite your trying, your asking, your searching, haven’t found the satisfying feeling of discovery. And blessed are you who never will. This is not an easy place to live. Outside of certainty, outside of knowing, outside of the truth. But blessed are you who realize that love and beauty and courage and meaning can still be found here. Amid the unease and the frustration and the sleepless nights. May you be surprised by your capacity for ambiguity, for the way it makes you a great listener and a good friend, for you are someone who knows how to feel your way around in the dark and squint for the stars. I wish it were easier, dear one. I wish I could hand you the answers you seek. But for now, may you find comfort in the fact that you are not alone here in the gray. We are all learning to live in the uncertainty in the unknowing. So blessed are we who live here together.” – Kate Bowler
